UAW WORKERS on strike at the A. O. Smith plant gather outside their union headquarters at 1836a Delmar Ave., Saturday to petition for a membership meeting to vote on a contract offer. Union leaders had cancelled the meeting and some of the rank and file members said they expected to present the petition today. A recommendation by the A. O. Smith Automotive Division that the plant be closed is to be voted upon by the board of directors July 31.

UAW workers demand vote

A petition asking that rank and file members of United Auto Workers Local 715 be permitted to vote on a final contract offer by the A.O. Smith auto frames plant was to be presented to union leaders today after approximately 100 striking Smith employees gathered in front of the union office Saturday to attend a meeting which was not held.

A spokesman in the group who contended that the union membership never had been given an opportunity to vote on the contract proposal, said the petition was to have been given to Willard Herzog, union president, in Saturday's meeting which was the scheduled date of a regular union meeting.

Some of the men showed letters they had received by mail, cancelling the Saturday meeting. Others said they had not received such notices.

One of the men said the petition asking a membership vote on the A.O. Smith contract proposal is signed by more than 300 members. Approximately 850 employees at the plant have been on strike since April 8. Meanwhile Herzog and members of the union's negotiating committee were making last-minute efforts to reach a settlement of the strike issues in the hope of reversing a decision by officials of the A.O. Smith Automotive Division to recommend to the board of directors that it vote in its July 31 meeting to close the Granite City plant.

That decision was reached a week ago and was announced at a press conference in St. Louis.

The announcement said the strike was not the cause of the shutdown recommendation and emphasized that economic conditions, particularly in the automobile manufacturing industry, primarily were responsible.

A final offer of contract terms was presented to the union in a meeting with federal mediators in St. Louis on June 25, and at that time company negotiators said that unless the union accepted the proposal, it would be withdrawn on July 14.

Area officials have said the closing of the Smith plant would have a widespread economic effect on the community. The plant's normal work force was about 1,400 workers in recent years and at times has reached nearly 2,000. Of the work force of 1,400, about 750 workers had been laid off before the strike began because of the lack of orders in the auto industry. The plant manufactured auto frames for standard-size cars.

Upon their arrival at the union headquarters at 1836a Delmar Ave., Saturday morning, UAW members said some had received a letter which said: As you are well aware, our strike is now in the 14th week, and all of you, I am sure are aware of the recent news broadcast concerning the future of the A.O. Smith Corp., Granite City Frame Plant. Further, your bargaining committee was informed on Tuesday, July 15, 1980, that Charles Baumann of Labor Relations in Milwaukee is now taking over negotiations in our contract dispute. Even though Mr. Baumann assured your Committee that the strike would not be a factor in their upcoming decision concerning future production at the Granite City plant, your bargaining committee taking into

Draft registration opens until high court rules

Registration of men born in January-March 1960 began this morning at post offices here and throughout the United States.

A federal court panel in Philadelphia ruled Friday that registration wrongly excludes women. But U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Brennan on Saturday cleared the way for registration to begin, blocking the "unconstitutionality" ruling until the full Supreme Court can study it.

Registration of those born in 1960 will continue tomorrow for birthdates in April, May and June; Wednesday, July-September; Thursday, October-December; and Friday, all unable to register earlier in the week.

Next week's registration schedule for men born in 1961 includes those born in January to March, Monday, July 28; April-June, Tuesday, July 29; July-September, Wednesday, July 30; October-December, Thursday, July 31; and those born in 1961 and unable to register earlier in the week, Friday, Aug. 1.

Registration is called a simple process. The registrant may go to any U.S. post office and fill out a registration form with his name, address, telephone number, Social Security number and date of birth.

These cards will be sent to Internal Revenue Service centers for keypunching; then, the information will be entered into Selective Service System computers.

Approximately 90 days after registration, each registrant will be mailed an acknowledgement letter, which will include the information entered in the system.

If the data is inaccurate, the correct information is to be entered on an enclosed change of information form and mailed back to Selective Service.

Although the president has the legal authority to require the registration of all young men between the ages of 18 and 26, he has decided that it is not necessary to register the entire group at one time in order to be prepared for an emergency mobilization.

Young men born in 1960 and 1961 will register this summer. Next January, men born in 1962 will register, and a program will begin by which all will register on or near the date they turn eighteen.

A young man will register by filling out a special form at a post office wherever he happens to be during the registration period. If he is outside the United States, he will register at the nearest U.S. embassy or consular office.

A postal clerk will check the form to insure that it is legible and complete, the registrant will sign and date the form and mail it back to Selective Service.

GC woman is abducted, raped

A 24-year-old Lincoln Place woman was abducted from a Granite City service station lot early Thursday and was driven by three men to East St. Louis where she was raped and molested by two of the men, the victim told police after being released and receiving medical treatment at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis.

The woman said she left her sister's home in the 800 block of State Street in Madison about 12:30 a.m. Thursday and was walking home when she was abducted.

An older-model, yellow car, possibly a Cadillac, containing three black men, stopped near her on a service station lot at 20th Street and Madison Avenue and one man asked her to get into the car, she said. She started to run, but one passenger got out, grabbed her, held a knife to her throat and ordered her to be quiet or he would kill her, police were told.

She said he forced her onto the rear floorboard of the car and he and another man sat in the rear seat over her. They put a baseball cap on her face and told her to keep quiet as they drove away, she related. She said she thought they drove toward Madison.

One man used a knife to cut her blouse and shorts off and then the two men in the rear seat raped her and forced her to commit other acts, she told officers. After she had been raped several times, the men took her out of the car, dragged her into tall weeds and ordered her not to look up or she would be killed. They then drove away.

The victim said she did not know where she was, but she could see the Gateway Arch, so she walked toward it.

Air dust getting worse in GC, state

Particulates (dust) in Illinois air increased in 1979, according to an annual report issued Friday, and once again the heavily-monitored Granite

City area topped the list with an annual average of 215 micrograms per cubic liter at the 2001 E. 20th St. monitor site. The statewide average for particulates reversed an earlier downward trend, reaching 74 micrograms in 1979 compared to 70 in 1978.

The 215 average on E. 20th Street is the highest annual average since 1969 and the first year since 1976 that an Illinois site recorded a yearly average above 200.

Of the highest nine sites in the state during the year, seven were located in Granite City. For comparison, the lowest annual mean was 44 in Lake Bluff.

Granite City also had the two highest 24-hour particulate averages for the year. The highest reading was 936 micrograms per cubic liter at the E. 20th site and there was a 679 reading near the Norfolk & Western railroad right-of-way here.

The Illinois Environmental Agency lists the primary annual dust standard as 75 and the primary 24-hour standard as 260.

The past year was the first the agency has monitored for lead pollution since adoption of the federal primary standard of 1.5 micrograms based on a quarterly average.

Two sites in Granite City are the only ones to record violations. One of these, at 15th Street and Madison Avenue, recorded violations in all four quarters, with the highest quarterly average 3.17.

Heat relief due

A brief respite from the mid-summer heat wave was promised today as the Illinois death toll from heat-related causes rose to 71.

The National Weather Service said thunderstorms are expected in this area this afternoon and tonight, dropping temperatures to the lower 90s.

A high temperature in the low to mid-90s was forecast for Tuesday, followed by a return of hot weather near the 100-degree mark during the rest of the week.

Quad-Cityans sweated through another weekend of 100-degree-plus temperatures with the mercury hitting 106 degrees on Saturday at 3:30 p.m. and 102 degrees Sunday at 3 p.m.

The high reading on Thursday was 97 and on Friday was 96.

Parks, swimming pools and other recreational sites were crowded during the weekend as area residents sought relief from the sweltering temperatures.

Six persons remained during the weekend at the Salvation Army Relief Center, 307 East 23rd St. The center was established to aid persons suffering from the heat. Eleven persons were at the center last week.

While some communities have reported water shortages, there is no problem in Granite City or Madison, according to Robert Jackson, manager of the Granite City district of the Illinois

American Water Co.

Jackson said, however, that Venice residents whose water supply is provided by the company's East St. Louis pumping station, should be conservative until stocks are built up.

Water main breaks in East St. Louis that caused considerable problems last week have been repaired, Jackson added.

The Illinois Association of Community Action Agencies has urged Governor James Thompson to declare a state of emergency so that Illinois can be eligible for federal heat relief.

An association official said Illinois could be eligible for up to $1 million in heat relief.

Solar energy lab in state

Construction technology students sweating in the July sun at the School of Technical Careers in Carverville have already learned one basic lesson about solar energy — it's hot.

But the students who are setting studs and laying roofing are not just erecting STC's new Illinois solar classroom-laboratory — they're moving construction technology into the solar age.

As part of the classroom and graduation requirements for the two-year technology program, students working on the solar project have been involved in planning and designing the building, as well as turning their plans into walls, roof and solar collectors.

"This facility will demonstrate solar technology and how it can be integrated into existing building procedures," says James Naas, assistant professor. "We know these systems work, but we want our students to see how they work in Southern Illinois."

During the design phase of the classroom-laboratory project, students learned about such details as energy-efficient building techniques, solar heating and cooling principles, performance of various insulation materials, calculation of building heat loss, cost estimation and installation techniques.

Putting these classroom lessons to work by actually building the structure gave the students an "invaluable learning experience," Naas said. The first solar laboratory is expected to be completed this fall.

Once it is ready, the emphasis will shift from learning-by-doing to research-while-learning.

"All systems of the laboratory will be closely monitored by the faculty and students in order to obtain a data base "on the performance of solar systems and the materials used in their construction that are in use in our geographic area," Naas said.

Such items as interchangeable energy collector panels, heat storage and distribution systems — and a variety of insulation materials — will allow flexibility for testing purposes.

A feature of the research structure is that one section, divided into four identical rooms, can be used to study the performance of different thicknesses and types of insulation. Each room is built exactly the same as the others, Naas said, "down to the number and placement of studs in the walls."

He explained that conventional construction techniques are being used throughout the facility, with the big difference being in the type and use of materials and the design of the energy systems.

A solar greenhouse constructed last spring is attached to the classroom-lab as an additional passive heating system.

Naas hopes the facility can provide further service by encouraging the public to visit. Displays, illustrations of equipment, installation and performance data, seminars and workshops are among future plans for the building.

GOP precinct committeemen hold meeting

The monthly meeting of the Granite City Republican Precinct Committeemen was held last week at the home of District Chairman Kent Holsinger.

Details pertaining to the location of a Republican Headquarters were discussed with a decision to be made after the Republican National Convention last week.

The Madison County Republicans are presently working on two fund raisers. A trip to the Grand Bahamas Island will be given away at the annual Republican Women's dinner-dance on Oct. 5. A picnic-dance featuring the Ollie Raymond Band and Entertainment will be held Sunday, Aug. 10 at the American Legion Club House in Edwardsville.

Tickets for these fund raisers may be purchased from precinct committeemen and committeewomen.

Others present at the meeting were Harold Stallings, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brnde, Harold Dupont, Darrell Downing, George Slattery, Tom Hoover, Dale Hyle, and Janet Wilson.

Woman hurt, car hits pole

Barbara Nelson, 3120 Jill Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center last week, suffering lacerations to the forehead. Mrs. Nelson was taken by ambulance to the hospital after she apparently lost control of the vehicle she was driving on East 2nd Street, striking a utility pole at Monroe Street.

Mosquitos in state carrying encephalitis

Evidence of the presence of the St. Louis Encephalitis virus in the bird population in four areas of Illinois has been found by the state health department's surveillance team.

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said antibodies were found in nearly three percent of birds tested in St. Clair, Saline, Richland and Cumberland counties.

"Although this percentage is not alarmingly high," Kempiners said, "it is a significant increase when compared with the percentage of positive results in birds tested in early June, when 0.5 percent showed evidence of St. Louis Encephalitis antibodies."

Kempiners said the laboratory tests indicate an increase in transmission of the virus in the bird population.

The virus is transmitted by Culex mosquitoes, which feed primarily on birds during the first half of the summer.

About mid-summer, these mosquitoes change their feeding habits from birds to humans, and transmit the disease to people.

"Most mosquitoes which have been biting up to now are a nuisance, but are not the species normally involved in the transmission of St. Louis Encephalitis," Kempiners said.

"Control of the Culex is the only known method for preventing human cases of the disease in late summer," Kempiners is urging communities and residents in all areas of Illinois to take action to eliminate breeding sites of Culex mosquitoes before the disease is transmitted to humans.

"Mosquito abatement districts should concentrate on control of the Culex larvae, and homeowners should take individual actions to eliminate suitable breeding sites for Culex mosquitoes on their own premises."

"Persons who are outdoors should use mosquito repellent liberally, especially after dusk."

"The Culex mosquitoes, usually dormant during the day, come out about dusk to feed."

The state health department's surveillance team was formed in 1976 following a statewide epidemic in 1975 in which nearly 600 cases of St. Louis Encephalitis occurred and 47 people died.

In 1976, 19 cases of the disease occurred in Illinois. In 1977, there were 13 cases, and none in 1978 or 1979.

No deaths associated with St. Louis Encephalitis have occurred in Illinois since 1975.

Following are preventive measures against the Culex

(northern house) mosquito. Because all mosquitoes require water in their first stages of development, it is natural that elimination of breeding sources should be given special consideration in the northern house mosquito.

Steps that require the cooperation of government officials and citizens include:

1. Clean and properly maintain catch basins that hold water.
2. Cut, remove and properly discard excess overhanging vegetation along or over the banks of drainage ditches or stagnant slow-moving streams, especially those that receive effluent from sewage treatment plants or where other waste, whether private or public, may enter a stream.
3. Cut, remove and properly discard excess vegetation around the margins of canneries water lagoons, hog lagoons, sewage lagoons and similar operations, so that a shaded canopy of vegetation is avoided.

4. Clean out debris, including artificial containers, broken tree limbs, or anything that interferes with or impedes normal stream flow, so that polluted pockets do not provide an environment in streams or drainage ditches.

5. Install septic tanks in rural areas, with adequate secondary treatment consisting of laterals or sand filters, to prevent effluent from being discharged into drainage ditches and other low areas.

Additional precautionary

1. Collect and discard all useless containers, such as tin cans, bottles, buckets, vases and old tire casings.
2. In the spring, inspect house gutters to determine if it is sagging or is blocked by leaves and hold water.
3. Stack pails, barrels, tubes, vases and wheelbarrows upside down.
4. Cover or store canoes and boats upside down.
5. Stock rock garden pools and lily ponds with small fish, including the top water minnow.
6. Fill up or drain any low places where water may stand for more than a week.
7. Empty and clean small wading pools at least once each week.
8. Provide maintenance of backyard swimming pools to discourage the development of mosquitoes.
9. Drain livestock water tanks once each week.
10. Cover rain barrels, cisterns or fire barrels with 16-mesh wire screening.
11. Install splash blocks around homes to carry water away from the foundation.

First guilty plea in race track fix

A Webster Groves, Mo. man will be sentenced Sept. 2 for his involvement in a Jan. 8 attempt to fix a trike race at Fairmount Park Race track.

Richard Behlter pleaded guilty Monday to one charge of offering a bribe to a racehorse driver and two charges of conspiring to commit corrupt acts.

Nicholas Byron, Madison County state's attorney, said two other charges against Behlter were dropped in exchange for the guilty plea.

Though the charges carry a maximum of one to three years in prison, Byron said his office will recommend a one-year sentence to run concurrently on the charges.

The judge is free to decide what he wants to do (on the sentencing) Byron said. "He may decide probation or he may decide to give him more than one year."

A total of six other men have been indicted in relation to the attempted fix of the race. The fix was unsuccessful when a driver failed to cooperate and finished in one of the top three spots, Byron said.

Driver David Marshall, 36, of White Plains, N.Y., has been declared a fugitive from justice: Marshall was indicted on charges of failing to report a bribe and accepting a bribe, according to Byron.

Rodney Grady, 39, of Gardiner, Maine, trainer of Marshall's horse, was also charged with failure to report a bribe and accepting a bribe.

Two other drivers, Greg Lance, 27, of Belmont and Robert Phillips, 32, of St. Johns, Mich., along with owner Vincent Proia of Waterbury, Mass., were charged with conspiracy to commit a corrupt act by offering a bribe.

Byron said Proia's lawyer has indicated he will fight extradition to Illinois from Massachusetts.

One other man, Bernard Scott of Galva, was charged with taking a bribe and failing to report a bribe.

Byron said he was unsure when trial would begin for the remaining six men charged in the scheme.

PROGRAM ON JULY 27

A Day of BECK program entitled "Unfulfilled, the Divine Journey of Soul" will be presented at the Jaycee Clubhouse, 658 Poplar St., on Sunday, July 27, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. It will consist of talks, music and poetry. The public is being invited free of charge.

Engineer's lens helps solve building site theft

Two recipients shared the reward money when the Southern Illinois Builders Association Crime Prevention Committee presented checks to James Henry and William Dowell. Their information and evidence led to the arrest and conviction of several persons responsible for material stolen from a construction job site.

Henry, a laborer with Local 179 in Edwardsville, and Dowell, a state engineer with the Illinois Department of Transportation, observed four individuals outside the work site premises of a C. D. Peters Construction Co. job. The Peters firm is located in Granite City.

After the four loaded up their truck with construction supplies, Dowell set up a level with a telescopic lens and recorded the license number. The suspects were soon arrested by Edwardsville police.

Ensuing statements from Henry and Dowell led to the conviction of three of the men. For their efforts, both Henry and Dowell were presented with awards from the SIBA Reward Program.

CRIME PREVENTION REWARDS are presented to James Henry of Laborers Local 179 and William Dowell, a State Transportation Department engineer. Left to right are Wayne Barber Jr., executive director of the Southern Illinois Builders Association; Henry; Dowell; and Carl D. Peters, president of C. D. Peters Construction Co.

Up to $5,000 is offered for information leading to the arrest and indictment of a person or persons responsible for theft, vandalism or violence on job sites, offices and equipment yards of SIBA members. The reward program was instituted by the SIBA Crime Prevention Committee in 1975.

Travel woes today? You should have tried it in this country in 1855

By BARBARA LAWRENCE and MARVIN SOLOMAN
(This is one of a series of articles about early Madison County and surrounding communities, which are based on material taken from the Flag Papers, a collection of manuscripts and letters written by the Flag family, one of the first families to settle in Madison County. The papers are housed in Loversley Library at SIUC.)

Undoubtedly by such considerations as the fact that Madison County residents of 1855 had a variety of transportation facilities at their disposal.

The pace was more leisurely and the traveler got lots of fresh air, but there was the weather to contend with.

On Oct. 6, Willard Flag and his father started for St. Louis, early in the morning. It was cold—there had been quite a snowfall the night before and snow lay heavily on the full-leaved boughs and upon the bridges.

After waiting for some time for the train from Chicago, the riverboat departed Alton and, about an hour later, father and son were in St. Louis.

The return trip on Oct. 8 and 9 was via the packet boat to Alton and then the Alton and Terre Haute Railroad to Bethalto.

From Bethalto, Willard came on a leisurely homeward, hoping to get a chance to ride, but none offered. His father had come home the day before.

For shorter trips, a buggy or wagon sufficed.

The day after Willard's return from St. Louis, Gershon and Jane Padlock Richmond Flag went to Edwardsville "with the mare Molly, who trotted fast and satisfactorily." Quite a handsome sight they must have made.

Because of their extensive orchards, the Flags made frequent trips to Alton to market the apples. During one such trip, Willard came home in the rain, but having the California wagon was but little wet.

A trip which occurred a few days later was not so pleasant. "On the way home from Alton, a dark rainstorm came up when we were yet four miles from home, and directly we could scarcely see the horses' heads."

"Ran into the brush by Hamlin and were a few minutes lost. Ran into a wagon in Gooseville and against a fence this side of the bridge by Rogers."

"Finally, our horses wandered from the road on the prairie and we were lost again until we came out by the crossroads and espied the guidepost."

"Said guidepost I knew stood in the east corner of the cross, whence it was easy to determine our proper bearings. Once home we found Vol had been wandering about the prairie to John Scott's and Eschbrook's and finally was found after some noise by William and Milhann in the brush south of the latter's house. A great night."

Traveling at night was hazardous. Gershon once wrote that Dr. Lauby had been to see Mrs. Flag the night before, but on the way home, his horse had strayed into Wood River. Dr. Lauby was forced to return to the Flags, wet and chilled.

Of course, travel had its light moments, too.

On Nov. 11, 1855, a warm day with a storm threatening, Willard took "Aunt Salome, Jule and Mother in the buggy up to Aunt Susan's making three loads, accompanied by the ferocious Towser who attacked a Dutchman mounted on a mule and nearly threw him off as well as clearing the road of geese."

By mid-November, it was possible to take the train all the way to St. Louis, except for crossing the river by ferry at Alton.

On Nov. 15, the Flags concluded that, since the weather, prevented hauling apples, they would go to St. Louis, taking Julia Wood with them.

They took the carriage to Bethalto and there caught a train to Alton. After crossing the river by ferry, they caught "the cars" to St. Louis.

When they reached St. Louis, they took the "omnibus" from the cars as far as 9th Street and walked thence to James Smith's. But the return trip was by the river packet, which left early in the morning and arrived at Alton by 9:30 a.m.

In January 1856, Willard walked to Bethalto and sought the "cars" to Illinoistown (now East St. Louis), where he arrived just before sundown.

However, the ferry was unable to reach the shore because of the ice, so the passengers walked out fifty yards to board. Presumably the passengers had to walk across the ice on the St. Louis side, too.

In several of his letters between 1850 and 1854, Gershon Flag reported on the progress of the railroads. Small wonder that there was so much attention for river travel was fraught with peril.

There was always the possibility that the boat would run upon a sandbar. When that happened, the passengers might be asked to disembark—if the water was shallow—or to lighten the load so the boat would rise again.

Once Gershon wrote that Robert Smith, Sarah Smith Flag's uncle, was sitting in the Mississippi "with a boat between him and a sandbar." Apparently the captain was waiting for a tow or for the water level to rise.

Competition between rival steamboat companies provided another hazard.

In an effort to attract passengers, especially as the railroads began to encroach upon river traffic, the steamboat companies cut fares, provided live entertainment on board, and varied up the route between Alton and St. Louis.

Unscrupulous pilots ordered that rosin and turpentine be added to the water used to stoke the boilers. Consequently, a number of boats and lives were lost in fires and explosions.

In 1850, Willard wrote that the steamer "St. Louis" had "collaged two flues," and that several people had been scalded, some fatally.

River casualties were so common, he remarked, that "they attract but little attention."

Travel, like so many other facets of life in the 1800s, was exciting and adventuresome. But it is doubtful that many people would trade today's problems—rising costs of gasoline and gasoline shortages—for those of the past.

Heat extra problem for aged and ill

"The current heat wave now searing Illinois poses a serious health threat to many of the state's 1.7 million seniors," Peg R. Blaser, director of the Illinois Department on Aging, said Friday.

The danger of heat stroke during an extended period of high temperature and humidity is particularly great for older persons," she said.

"From 60 to 70 percent of all heat stroke victims are over 60 years old. And 80 percent of all deaths due to heat stroke occur in that age group."

Further complicating factors are the medications taken by the elderly, and restricted diets.

A typical older person might take an average of five medications, many of which inhibit perspiration, and thereby reduce the natural cooling effect of sweating.

However, the elderly to control high blood pressure or heart problems can create problems for seniors if excessive sweating increases the body's salt loss," she said.

The following tips issued by the Department of Public Health and other medical authorities are intended to help senior citizens minimize the dangers of heat-related illness and increase their personal comfort.

Stay in air-conditioned places as much as possible. In homes without air conditioning, use fans to boost air circulation. Open windows to increase ventilation.

Moisturize the skin with a wet, cool towel and, if possible, use a small fan to increase the cooling effect. Drink plenty of liquids, particularly water and fruit-based beverages such as lemonade or orange juice.

Avoid use of coffee, tea and alcohol. These act as mild diuretics and can increase the loss of body fluids and salts.

Avoid or restrict non-essential outdoor activity. Try to remain indoors or in the shade as much as possible. Take frequent breaks in a cool spot if you must engage in heavy physical activity during hot weather.

Persons who feel the need for extra salt, such as salt tablets, should consult a physician for advice.

Protect the head, skin and eyes from overexposure to the sun.

Seek immediate medical attention if you experience such typical heat stroke symptoms as absence of sweating, nausea, dizziness, severe headaches and vomiting.

Peg Blaser said the Department on Aging encourages all seniors experiencing extreme hardships during the heat wave to contact local area agencies on aging, senior citizen centers or nutrition sites.

"We've asked these members of the aging network to provide extended hours of operation so that seniors can seek relief from the heat in air-conditioned or cooled shelters during daylight hours," she said.

"Residents should also keep a close watch on their elderly neighbors to see if they can assist by loaning them fans or inviting them to share their air-conditioned homes during the hottest part of the day."

Those unable to locate assistance can call the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Center toll-free at 1-800-252-6565 for referral to the senior center or program nearest them.

Engine pushes car 400 feet

Stephen P. Carr, 19, of 8 7th Ave., was injured, but not seriously, when his auto was struck by a Burlington Northern locomotive and pushed 400 feet along the tracks at the East Ponton railroad crossing, near Carroll Road, at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday.

The Granite City rescue unit and an ambulance were called and Carr was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center suffering a laceration to the right arm and small cuts to the face. He was treated and released.

Fireman Donald Lucido, 2544 Grand Ave., was operating the northbound engine with 74 cars attached at the time of the accident.

George Hodde of Belleville, the engineer, told police the crossing lights were functioning and the train whistle and horn were activated upon seeing the eastbound auto slow down.

The vehicle continued to cross the tracks and was hit by the engine, Hodde stated. Carr was cited for failure to stop at a railroad crossing.

TRUCK BURNED

A truck at Iron Electric, 1818 Cleveland Blvd., was believed to have been set on fire at 1:15 p.m. Saturday by a 12-year-old youth who later was picked up by officers. A witness saw the youth around Dron just outside the fence, before and at the time of the fire. Police found similar tennis shoe prints both outside and inside the fence. There were scratches on the boy's arm allegedly caused when he climbed the fence. No estimate of damage was given on the truck, which was burned. The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Numerous heat victims in state

About 700 victims of heat exhaustion were reported by 197 Illinois hospitals last week, with at least 15 deaths attributed to the heat, William L. Kempner, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said.

"Heat exhaustion is caused by overexertion in extreme heat. The victims' face becomes pale," he said, "and the skin is clammy, with heavy perspiration and shallow breathing."

"Anyone observing a person with these symptoms should place the patient on his back in a shaded place. The patient's head should be slightly lowered and his clothing loosened. Prompt medical attention is essential."

"Sunstroke, which is caused by overexposure to the sun, differs from heat exhaustion in that the victim's face will be red and dry with the skin hot and the temperature high. Breathing may be slow and noisy, and the victim may lose consciousness."

"A sun stroke patient should be placed on his back, in the shade, with his head slightly raised. His clothing should be loosened and his skin sponged with alcohol or lukewarm water. As with heat exhaustion, prompt medical attention is vital."

Kempner's relation is essential.

Local-level government officials having problems in their efforts to help citizens cope with the heat wave can call the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs for assistance, it was noted.

Officials can call Ed Lowe of DCCA's division of Government and Community Services in Springfield at 217-782-3555. In southernmost Illinois, officials can call DCCA Government and Community Services representative Dave Morris in Marion at 618-997-4371, extension 329.

DCCA Director John Castle said, "Local governments throughout the state are playing a pivotal role in dealing with many of the problems associated with these conditions."

"Local plans are being improvised and implemented to help citizens, particularly the elderly, survive these unusual conditions."

"Units of government and organizations such as community action agencies can call the Springfield and Marion offices to get answers to questions regarding what can be done to help citizens combat the heat."

2 men hurt on Nameoki Drive

Two men were reported injured last week when the car in which they were riding struck a utility pole on Nameoki Drive and Sinclair Avenue.

Henry L. Brown, 2676 Grand Ave., said he was driving south on Nameoki Drive when a second vehicle pulled in front of him from Sinclair, causing him to veer his car sharply to the left, leave the roadway and strike a utility pole.

Police said both Brown and Benny E. Robertson, 23 of 2542 Missouri Ave., a passenger, appeared to be injured. A second passenger in the vehicle was uninjured.

Brown was cited for not having a valid registration.

2 injured in Route 3 crash

Both drivers were injured when the truck of Ronald E. Harshbarger, 28, Donaldson, Ill., and the auto of Suretha Chand, 44, St. Louis, collided at Route 3 and Rock Road last week.

The driver of the car was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where she was treated for a bump to the left side of her head. She requested to be transferred to Christian Northeast Hospital in St. Louis and was admitted there for observation.

Harshbarger suffered visible injuries, but did not seek immediate medical treatment, authorities said.

FLAG TO HONOR SON IS STOLEN

A flag on a pole in the back yard of her home was stolen and the flag pole broken and pulled down, Mrs. George Woodward, 2900 Marshall Ave., reported Tuesday last week.

Mrs. Woodward said she had purchased the flag to honor her son, George Michael Woodward, who is in service in the U.S. Navy and is scheduled to return on furlough soon. He has been hospitalized at San Diego, she said.

She said the flag pole was pulled down and broken in an apparent effort to tear off the flag which was taken.

McCambridge to be widened at 6th Street

Federal Highway Administration approval has been requested for widening of Illinois Route 203 (McCambridge Avenue) at Sixth Street in Madison to create four through lanes of 11-foot width and an 11-foot left turn lane both north and south of the intersection.

The proposed improvement includes modernizing the existing traffic signals. There will be turn signals for vehicles, walk signs for pedestrian use, and wheelchair ramps for the handicapped.

Illinois Highway District Engineer Dale L. Klorb said no additional right-of-way will be required. The widening work will take place on the west side of McCambridge.

Fall classes include crime prevention here

Senior citizens in Madison and St. Clair counties will have at least 84 courses to choose from this fall when the Metro-East Institute of Lifetime Learning begins another term.

The Institute will offer courses on subjects ranging from poetry writing to home repair, in neighborhood centers, churches, office buildings, nursing homes, veterans' halls and YMCAs and on college campuses, for people 55 years and older who enjoy learning and being with those their own age.

Developed and conducted as a cooperative venture between Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark Community College and State Community College, as well as regional chapters of the American Association of Retired Persons, the courses carry no credit, are short term and have no examinations.

According to Clyde Fisher, program chairman for the Institute and assistant director of the Office of Continuing Education at SIUE, the courses and their locations include:

Tips on crime prevention for the elderly, offered in a class at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., Granite City. This class will provide information about the crimes most feared by older persons, such as street crime, residential burglary and criminal fraud. Community and police relations will also be discussed.

The class will meet on Mondays from 10 until 11:30 a.m., beginning Oct. 20. Fee for the four-week course is $1.

7 years for rape

Calvin Lee Green, 30, of 411 W. Third St., Madison, has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve seven years in prison after pleading guilty to rape.

Circuit Judge A.A. Matossian pronounced sentence. Green was charged with a rape which occurred in Madison March 4.

No funds for toll-free phone number to sheriff's office

By RICK PEARSON

Nameoki Township officials say they see little hope of getting toll-free telephone service to the Madison County sheriff's office after receiving a letter from Nelson Hagnauer, county board chairman.

In a letter to Harold Davis, township supervisor, Hagnauer said the county does not have the funds to establish toll-free service.

A number of Nameoki residents have complained during the last several months that they feel it is unfair to make a long-distance telephone call to the sheriff's department. They say the county sheriff is the primary police protection unit for township residents.

"The building committee has discussed the problem of the residents and taxpayers in unincorporated areas having to pay toll calls to get help from the Madison County sheriff's office," Hagnauer's letter said. "We understand your concern in this regard, but are unable, at this time, to provide funds for a toll-free number."

"If the county were to do this for the residents of Nameoki Township, they would be obligated to do it for the residents of the unincorporated areas within the rest of the county and there are not adequate funds in the budget to provide this service," the letter said.

Hagnauer's letter was prompted by a May 30 request by Davis to have a toll-free telephone number system created. Davis said he remembered some county officials saying they would like the service instituted.

In other action Monday the board:

—Approved a letter from Davis to local legislators and to James Barton, county supervisor of assessments, calling for a review of multipliers issued to the township.

Davis' letter said he feels an investigation is needed into why the township has been receiving an increased multiplier each year.

"There is no way that we could be underserved and most likely the majority of the township is overassessed," Davis' letter said. "It hardly seems fair that if these multipliers have been applied simply because some of the properties have been sold at escalating prices, the rest of the properties and citizens should be penalized with higher taxes. The majority of this township is low income people and they simply cannot afford this."

—Approved a $3,719 expenditure for a health project on Illinois 162 and Lake Drive, Frank Mehele, township highway commissioner, said the project would be to replace two wire fences and to install 400 feet of culverts to relieve drainage problems.

St. Mark graduates hold 15-year reunion

The 1965 eighth-grade graduating class of St. Mark Catholic School in Venice held a 15-year reunion last week.

Twelve members of that class and one of their teachers, Sister Mary Geraldine, who now works at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, gathered at Charlie's Restaurant for a dinner and to reminisce about their grade school days.

Attending the dinner were, Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Jeannie Daniels) Spiff, Mr. and Mrs. Dick (Mary Ann Fields) George, Miss Sharon Maurer of Smyrna, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mangi.

Mrs. Gary (Susan Stern) Stahhut.
Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hooks, Mr. and Mrs. John (Rita Shodoroski) Mullen, Tim Tolliver, Mrs. Margie Scaturro Ayers of Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lee, Mr. and Mrs. David Welch and Mr. and Mrs. Craig (Mary Catherine Miller) Woods of Memphis, Tenn.

After the dinner the group went to the St. Mark Church grounds in Venice for the annual "Nite in Venice." While there, another classmate and his wife joined the group, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mangi.

Driver license to be smaller, less costly

Alan J. Dixon announced Thursday that a contract awarded the Polaroid Corporation will result in an improved Illinois driver license and identification card, and will save the state more than $1 million.

Secretary of State Dixon said the new contract will save Illinois taxpayers $1,200,000 over its four-year, 10-month (including options) duration.

"Had we continued with the same size license and card, with the former supplier, we would have spent $3.75 cents for each document. Under the new Polaroid contract, we will spend 34.60 cents each."

"Based on our estimate of 2.9 million license and cards issued each year, we expect to save $238,350 annually and $1.2 million over the potential life of the contract," Dixon said.

The new driver license and identification card, to be issued beginning Sept. 1, will be credit-card size, fitting more conveniently into wallets and card cases he said, adding:

"I have heard complaints from Illinois motorists who couldn't fit the old license or identification card into their wallets and couldn't trim them because of the lamination."

"I've tested the new size personally," he said, "and I can assure the public that the license and card will fit anything that restaurant, gasoline, bank, or store cards would go into."

"The new license will have additional tamper-proof features."

"Since we came out with the photo driver license and identification card three years ago, we have considered ways to achieve additional security."

"For instance, we have overlaid my signature and the State of Illinois seal on the driver's picture. This will make it very difficult for anyone to cut out and switch pictures."

"Code numbers have been added to the license which will assist law enforcement officials in tracing it."

Dixon said details of making the new license virtually alteration proof were worked out by Driver Services Director William F. Logan and his staff and will provide an additional saving to the Illinois public.

"The bidder's tamper-proof system would have cost $174,000 more per year," Dixon said, "but Logan and his staff worked on security features that will not cost the taxpayer an extra penny."

"I am excited about this new program because it

Student attends yearbook workshop

Thomas McCoskey, 16, has recently attended the 19th annual yearbook workshop at Quincy College.

The Assumption High School junior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCoskey, 633 Lincoln Ave., Venice.

During the workshop he studied the various components of a yearbook with a particular interest in photography in which he excelled to the advanced class.

He received a certificate for his attendance at the workshop and was commended for his meritorious performance and was honored as a star student.

Carol Spengler elected at Texas convention

Carol Spengler, director of Nursing at Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center, Columbia, Mo., a former Granite Cityan, was elected first vice-president of the American Nurses' Association during its biennial convention held in Houston, Texas.

She polled 493 votes as compared to 239 registered by her only opponent who was from California.

In her campaign speeches Miss Spengler said the major problem facing the nursing profession is the nationwide nursing shortage.

"This problem needs our immediate attention," she said. "We must work with all levels of government, health care institutions, schools of nursing, non-nurse health care providers, public-consumer groups and specialty nursing organizations to identify corrective long term means for resolving this shortage."

She attributes the shortage to low wages offered compared to other professions with comparable responsibilities and work schedules, as well as lack of government funding for nursing education and lack of financial support in nursing.

At the present rate, by 1982 there will be a nationwide shortage of 200,000 nurses, Miss Spengler said.

The former resident had been second vice president of the association for two years. In addition to her position at Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center, Miss Spengler is assistant clinical professor of nursing at the University's School of Nursing. She was also first vice-president of the Missouri Nurses' Association.

The association is a national organization with 180,000 members. One of its goals is to equalize nursing's occupational level to that of other professions. This is to be accomplished by requiring that the entry level for professional practice in nursing be a baccalaureate degree by 1985, Miss Spengler added.

With more jobless, public buying less, which adds to unemployment

The Illinois unemployment rate rose to a seasonally adjusted rate of 8.6 percent in June, a 7 percent increase over the previous month.

The national unemployment rate declined one-tenth of a point to 7.7 percent during the same period, according to the July Illinois Economic Data Sheets published Thursday by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The continuing rise in the state jobless rate is due in part to the impact of an almost unprecedented decline in U.S. automobile sales. Illinois is the fifth largest steel producing state in the nation and a major supplier of various automotive components.

The decline in auto sales, however, is just one aspect of recent evidence that suggests consumers are pulling back from the marketplace in order to repay debts and increase savings, according to U.S. government publications.

Retail sales fell 1.5 percent in May across the nation, following a 2.3 percent decline in April.

Outstanding consumer credit nationwide also fell in April for the first time in five years, while the U.S. savings rate had fallen to a low of 3.4 percent in December 1979.

Retail sales in Illinois declined 3.4 percent in April, as compared to a year ago, although retail sales in the Chicago metropolitan area fell by only 1.9 percent during the same period.

Depending on the extent of reductions in consumer spending, the economic recession could be deeper and longer than previously expected, according to economists Paul Prentice and Michael Salant of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Prentice and Salant also noted that, with corporate profits declining due to sales lags, investment expenditures will not be sufficient to take up the slack.

nor will public spending, due to tightened government fiscal policies. These factors could cause the recession to last into early 1981, they commented.

Earl Cunio, executive vice-president of P. A. Berger and Co., Peoria, one of the state's largest department store chains, said his firm is forecasting a downturn in consumer sales because at this point nothing has happened to suggest an economic recovery.

"Our sales are directly related to unemployment," Cunio said. "In cities such as LaSalle-Peru, where a major industry has shut down, sales are down."

"Our stores in cities where Caterpillar tractor plants are located have also seen a downturn in sales because Caterpillar employees are uncertain of their future."

"Conversely," Cunio said, "in Springfield where consumers such as state government employees are fairly certain of their economic future, sales are holding their own in spite of current national retail trends."

"Frankly, however, our inventory is down and we're buying cautiously for the winter and Christmas seasons."

Banking officers report that consumer loan applications for unessential items such as vacations, boats and campers have fallen off significantly in the last several months.

On the other hand, consumer loan applications to consolidate outstanding credit card accounts have increased.

Some say loan policy has become more restrictive, except in cases where a loan would increase consumer buying power, such as home improvements or purchase of autos.

Purchases of high-yield, short-term certificates of deposit have increased since the recession deepened.

Because of the sharp decline in consumer spending and commercial bank loan demand, the Federal Reserve Board acted to ease credit controls as early as March 14.

Reserve requirements for consumer loans were cut from 15 to 7½ percent.

The Fed also modified its voluntary credit restraint program to ensure credit availability for small businesses, auto dealers and buyers, the housing market, agriculture, and energy products and conservation.

Effective June 13, the Fed reduced the discount rate to 11 percent. Some banks had lowered their prime lending rate to 12.5 percent by mid-June, including major Illinois banks.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the farm outlook for the second half of 1980 is mixed.

The outlook for grains revolves around prospects for 1980 crops in major Northern Hemisphere producing nations and the potential impact on U.S. grain export.

Approximately 40 percent of Illinois economy is based on agriculture, and Illinois is the nation's number one agricultural exporting state.

For livestock and products, the developing recession, declining inflation, and grain output and price will have an impact on both production and prices, the USDA reports.

Exports account for 65 percent of the nation's wheat use, about 50 percent of soybean production, and more than 30 percent of corn production. Exports have been moving at a record pace nationally since October 1979.

Farm economy difficulties in Illinois and other major agriculture states center on the rising cost of production inputs. Farm production costs have been driven up mainly by the spiraling cost of energy, fertilizers and interest rates.

"All things being equal," John Block, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, says, "the future of the state's farm economy rests heavily on market prices."

Dry, hot weather in many parts of the nation has depressed soybean crops, but the Illinois crop has not yet been seriously affected in most areas of the state. This is due to the fact that market prices in the future to the benefit of Illinois farmers, Block concluded.

Borrowed shirt leads to arrest

Robert L. Mathes, 31, of 2141 E. 24th St., was charged with criminal damage to property last week after it was alleged he deliberately ripped a shirt loaned to him by an employee of Charlie's Restaurant, 3210 Nameoki Road.

Dennis Meyer, the employee, said another man with Mathes was loaned a yellow tuxedo-style shirt when he arrived at the lounge in unsuitable attire.

The man exchanged the loaned shirt for one being worn by Mathes, who allegedly said the shirt was too small for him, flexed his chest and ripped the seams.

The four men in the party were then asked to finish their drinks and leave. As they departed, police were told, Mathes again flexed his chest, ripping out the back of the shirt.

Mathes was arrested when a vehicle was stopped by an officer on St. Clair Avenue. He posted a $35 cash bond and was released.

Arrest ends disturbance

After breaking up a fight, reportedly between two brothers on the front lawn of a house in the 2900 block of Pershing Boulevard last week, one of the combatants allegedly refused to stop fighting and was arrested.

Ronnie Dale Knight, 31, of 157 Trocadero Lane, Mitchell, was charged with criminal damage to property after he allegedly used obscene language, created a disturbance in the street, and put his hands on an officer's chest, challenging him to fight.

He was released from custody upon paying a $35 cash bond.

Steals purse from center

When she returned from lunch last week, Rhonda Hunt, a secretary at St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Ketter Center, found her tan canvas purse, containing a wallet with $32 inside, credit cards, two prescription medications and a hair brush, was missing from a desk drawer.

The thief, however, had removed keys, personal papers and cash register receipts from the purse, leaving them on the desk top.

A center security guard reported asking a woman to leave the building when he found her in an unoccupied office nearby a short time before the theft was discovered.

Mail order firms may not deliver

Consumers should proceed with caution when ordering merchandise by mail from unknown mail order companies, the Better Business Bureau said Friday.

The volume of complaints with the BBB against mail order companies always has been high. The most frequent complaint is non-delivery of ordered merchandise.

Checks covering the orders often are cashed immediately, but merchandise may not be forthcoming for months, if at all, it is concluded.

In February 1976, the Federal Trade Commission put into effect a trade regulation rule for the mail order industry.

A mail order company must ship ordered merchandise within 30 days from the time it receives an order, unless it clearly states another time frame when making the offer. If the company cannot ship within the 30-day period, or within the time it advertises, it must notify the customer of the delay.

This notice of delay must be accompanied by a free means of reply, such as a postage-paid postcard, by which the customer has the right to cancel the order or agree to the delay.

If a customer chooses to cancel rather than wait longer for the merchandise, the company is required to give a full refund of any money paid within seven working days from the day it receives the cancellation notice.

If money had been charged, and then the order cancelled for reasons of the delay, the company must provide a copy of a credit memorandum which shows the customer's account cleared of all related charges within one billing period.

There are some mail order shipments to which the FTC rule does not apply, namely, COD (cash on delivery), or orders for which no advance payment is sent -- and orders for which a billing or account charge is not made until shipment of the ordered merchandise is made.

The following mail order companies are listed as firms which have been uncooperative in dealing with consumer complaints brought to their attention by the BBB, or which have failed to eliminate problems which cause complaints:

American Treasury, Philadelphia; Consumer Testing Center, a division of Inflation Fighters Kit, Inc., New York, N.Y.; Hosiery Corp., N.Y.; America, Philadelphia; Hosiery Industries, St. Louis, and Jewelart, Inc., Hollywood, Calif.; Mass. Marketing Assoc., Hollywood, Calif.; Inflation Fighters Kit, Inc., also uses names including Gift Box, Regency Stationers, Free Gifts and Shoppers' Boutique, and uses several addresses in New York and some post office boxes in Connecticut and New Jersey, a spokesman alleged.

Testing centers on individual mail order companies are given on request through the BBB's telephone information lines by mail.

The BBB is reminding consumers to read mail orders carefully. The 30-day FTC rule does not always apply, but knowledge of it may be helpful to the consumer, the BBB said.

Salaries not settled for Madison city budget

Salaries for city employees is the final item yet to be determined for the Madison city budget which is scheduled to be approved at the City Council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

City Comptroller Al Hudzik noted that generally the budget for the general operating fund will be close to $1,000,000 depending on what salary increases, if any, are given.

The budget will also include additional money for the cable television, the new trash pickup system and the shopping center at Third Street and Madison Avenue.

With the addition of the funds budgeted for the three major projects the city budget will project expenditures of nearly $3 million.

Hudzik pointed out that although items are listed in the budget, it does not mean the city will spend the money or even receive the monies anticipated for these three special projects.

However, the expenditures must be listed by law in the budget, so that if the monies are available they may then be spent.

The tentative budget is at the city clerk's office, 1529 Third St., Madison, for public inspection.

A public hearing will be held at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday on the proposed use of federal revenue sharing monies.

ST. LOUIS — It might have been billed as the champs against the heavyweights.

In this case, the champs won out. The Illinois All-Star American Legion baseball team from District 22 whipped a powerful-hitting Missouri District 10 squad here Friday night 13-5 in the third annual East-West Legion Game at Heine Meine Field in South St. Louis.

The Illinois squad, bolstered by members of the high school Class 1A (Alton, Marquette) and 2A (Collinsville) state champions, along with some pretty powerful bats of its own up and down the lineup, was never in danger. And in fact, never trailed.

"I thought Missouri would be a lot tougher than this," said Bob Batey, a shortstop for the Illinois team from Tri-City Post 113 in Granite City. "Last year they (Missouri) whipped us pretty bad. This time, it was our turn."

Illinois wasted little time in getting things started. Using six hits to its benefit, Illinois scored six runs in the top of the first inning.

Missouri starting pitcher Gary Smith of Florissant had little trouble finding the plate. The trouble was, he was a little bit too generous with his pitches.

"He (Smith) was throwing it right down the middle, said Batey. "But he couldn't get his curveball to work."

In any case, Smith allowed all six runs. Leading off the game, centerfielder Larry Hawkins of Bethalto walked. He came home when shortstop John Duncan of Belleville — who had the hot hand at the plate all night — stroked a 3-2 pitch deep to centerfield for a double.

Duncan scored when rightfielder Tim VonderLinden of Freeburg single.

Designated hitter Darren Mesch of Nashville singled. Then catcher Phil Conreux of Edwardsville singled, second baseman Steve Hausman of Belleville struck out, bringing Waterloo's Mike Roy to the plate. He smashed a double deep to left-centerfield, scoring VonderLinden, Mesch and Conreux.

"Man, everybody was hitting tonight," said Batey. Roy eventually scored when first baseman Bryan Perry of Marietta singled him home. Centerfielder Rich Lambert of Collinsville (Traid High) smashed a screamer that sank and was caught on the run by the Missouri centerfielder.

Illinois had a 6-0 lead and Missouri hadn't even had a time at bat yet.

With what happened in the Missouri half of the first inning, it looked as if the large crowd of fans from both Illinois and St. Louis might be in for a long evening. As it turned out, they were, but not because of any huge amount of scoring on the part of Missouri.

Illinois allowed the District 10 All-Stars three runs on only one hit (but four walks and a sacrifice) in the bottom of the first inning. Starting pitcher Vince Broderick of Edwardsville went the entire inning, but struggled. He was helped out of the jam by a Duane Hausman-to-Perry double-play that ended the inning.

Schaake of Edwardsville must have thought he'd died and gone to heaven. He used a different pitcher in each inning (three in the ninth to give everybody a chance to play) and never had a doubt about who he was using at a given time.

Tom Siegel of Fairview Heights pitched the second inning. Then just take a look at the rest of the GRANITE CITY — Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis returned to the Tri-City Speedway after a two week lay off Saturday night to win the 40-lap late model feature.

Gundaker who started on the second row outside passed Gary Potter of St. Charles, Mo., on the first lap and lead every lap to win his sixth late model feature of the year.

Following Gundaker at the finish were Gary Potter, Kenny Standridge of Springfield, Ill., Billy Collins of Elsberry, Mo., and Rob Jones of Cave Court, Mo.

Kevin Gundaker won the first heat over Rick Standridge, Len Gittereiner of St. Charles, Mo., and Norm Cox of St. Louis. Gary Potter won the second heat over Mike Wallace, Mike Barbeau of O'Fallon, Mo., and C. C. Corbin of E. Alton, Ill. Kevin Gundaker made a clean sweep of the night by winning the trophy dash over Wallace, Barbeau, and Standridge.

In the sprint car division Kenny Schrader of Ballwin,

Mo., took the lead from his outside first row starting spot and lead every lap to win the 20-lap feature driving the McDonald No. 14 for his second sprint win of the year. At the finish behind Schrader, were Danny Frye Jr. of St. Louis, Kevin Olson of Davenport, Iowa, Ron Standridge of Springfield, Ill., Randy Bateman of Murphysboro, Ill., Tom Georges of Springfield, Ill., and Jim Hall of Charleston, Mo.

Danny Frye Jr. won the first heat over Kevin Olson, Ron Standridge and Joe Albert of Carbondale, Ill.

Kenny Schrader won the second heat over Jack Zeigler of Marshall, Ill., Randy Standridge of Springfield, Ill., and Jim Hall. Ron Standridge won the trophy dash over Kevin Olson, Danny Frye Jr., and Randy Standridge.

In the sportsman division Tom Smith of St. Louis won the 12-lap feature in route to his sixth win of the year. Gene Jones of Cave Court, Mo., was second followed by Doyle McMeen of Centralia, Ill., Odie Hayes of Collinsville, Ill., Cecil Lyons of Virginia, Ill., and Brad Loddeke of Breese, Ill.

Odie Hayes won the first heat over Loddeke and Al Bass of Florissant, Mo. Tom Smith won the second heat, over Gene Jones, Doyle McMeen and Cecil Lyons. Late model, sportsman and sprint car action resumes this Saturday night at 8 p.m.

This Friday, July 25 the A.M.A. regional motorcycle half mile championship races with time trials beginning at 7 p.m.

Edwardsville defense too much for Tri-City

T-C drops opener

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball team probably saw enough of the very talented things Edwardsville could do before its first playoff game was even half over.

Before the playoffs are over, though, Tri-City could see more of Edwardsville.

Thanks to some nifty defense behind Edwardsville's pitcher Tom Hanson, Edwardsville won the first round game of the District 22 playoffs, 4-2 over Tri-City here yesterday.

The win advanced Edwardsville to the winners bracket of the tournament and placed Tri-City in the losers bracket of the double-elimination playoff.

According to Tri-City coach Eldon Warfield, the sparkling Edwardsville fielding put a quick damper on Tri-City's tournament fire. "We hit the ball well enough to have a four or five run lead," he said.

The only problem was the Edwardsville defense performed even better. Like in the first inning when Tri-City's Bob Ford lined sharply to third with two out and a runner at second, Edwardsville's third baseman Dan Allaria grabbed the drive to retire the side.

Then in the third, John Vrenick led off for Tri-City with a drive to deep right center field. Edwardsville's Tim Milner made a twisting, diving catch and Tri-City was robbed again.

The list goes on. Again in the fourth, two more sparkers — one by Milner and another by shortstop Bob McManus — each time chipping away at Tri-City's confidence.

"They made some great plays," Warfield admitted. "Those are the kind that take the spark right out of you."

Maybe overshadowed by the spectacular fielding, though, was the pitching of Edwardsville's Hanson. He kept the Tri-City batters and his teammates hoping with a blazing fastball and well-placed breaking pitches. He allowed Tri-City six hits, but more important he made Tri-City hit the ball. His defense did the rest.

"You have to give him a lot of credit," Warfield said of Hanson. "He threw strikes. When you make the other team hit the ball you're going to come out all right."

The fact that Tri-City produced half of its six hits during the fifth and sixth innings, during which it scored its only two runs, is proof of Warfield's statement.

In the fifth, Bob Stegemeier scored for Tri-City when, ironically, he reached on a rare Edwardsville error. He went to third on Mike DeGonia's single, then scored on a hit by Vrenick.

In the fifth, Tri-City scored

McDonalds edges close to top of Inter-city

By TOM SCHOCKER
For the Press-Record

EAST ALTON — When McDonalds edged its game Sunday with East Alton, only a half a game separated it from front running Maryville in the Inter-City League race.

Six games remain on the schedule for McDonalds' manager Ray Harris and each contest has taken on a must-win situation. So McDonalds put Maryville on the spot and pulled away from its tie with Corral Liguors, solving the must-win dilemma. At Van Praeter Park yesterday two strong pitching performances led to 8-2 and 7-4 victories.

Pat Hogan got the show on the road for McDonalds, taking it on his own to give his team an early lead. Drawing a one-out walk, he stole second, moved to third on an error and promptly scored on a wild pitch. But East Alton refused to be walked on, as they have been all season.

Responding to McDonalds accomplishments in the opening frame, the Indians knotted the score with its turn at bat. A lead-off walk, a wild pitch and a single drew East Alton as close as they were going to get. "I thought, we did a good job today," said Harris, "but what can you expect. East Alton has only won one game all-year and that was the first game of the season."

East Alton's dismal performance throughout the 1980 campaign held true to form as the contest rolled on. McDonalds broke the game open, moving four runners across the plate in the fourth. Jeff Tretter risked life and limb to reach base. Trotting to first after being hit by a pitch, he made East Alton pay for its inaccuracy by swiping second.

John Young then rifled a single and Tretter scored. Young also followed suit, stealing second and John Shable drove him home with a base hit.

Shable swiped second and Pat Hogan knocked him in with a single. Hogan then like-wise grabbed the fourth stolen base of the inning and McDonalds' scoring was complete when Dan Schaus sent him home on a single.

"I thought we should have had a lot bigger score," said Harris, "but we did do a good job pitching." Starting hurler Terry Lindsay limited the Indians to five base hits as its second tally came in he stole with the help of a McDonalds' error.

Harris' crew used a couple of other big scoring innings to complete the sweep of the double-header.

Hinging on a slim 21 margin in the nightcap, Jeff Parker pushed his team into a more respectable advantage, blasting a pitch over the right field fence in the fifth. Schaus occupied base, when Parker connected. "And to think we had him (Parker) batting left-handed," said Harris. "He's really a right-handed hitter, but he wanted to see if he could make a home run from the left side."

Again East Alton attempted to produce a close contest, scoring two more times in the fifth. However McDonalds put the game out of reach once more. Schaus' triple in the final frame spoiled a three-run outburst. Lindsay's walk provided Tretter a chance for an RBI with a double and Young cracked another hit scoring two more.

"We got another good pitching job from Steve Doty," said Harris. "We have a good pitching staff, but I'm short a bunch of players and the majority of going like this, we can get first place," said Harris. "We have four games left. Two with Corral and two with Edwardsville and I expect to win four games. But as far as Maryville and their games goes, if they lose any games today, we're in first."

... A GREAT PLACE TO DO BUSINESS

COMING SUNDAY, JULY 27TH

DON'T MISS IT!

They're the BEST...

GRANITE CITY — There's a group of Under-16 year old girls from Granite City who are about to make a pretty important trip. They're going to Cincinnati.

Oh sure, you say, Cincinnati. Big Deal. What's in Cincinnati that anybody from around St. Louis would want to see? Well, there's a little matter of a soccer tournament.

A Midwest Regional Soccer Tournament, to be exact.

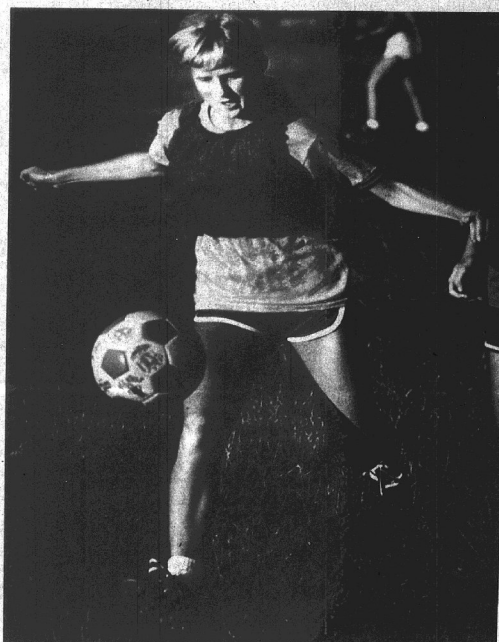

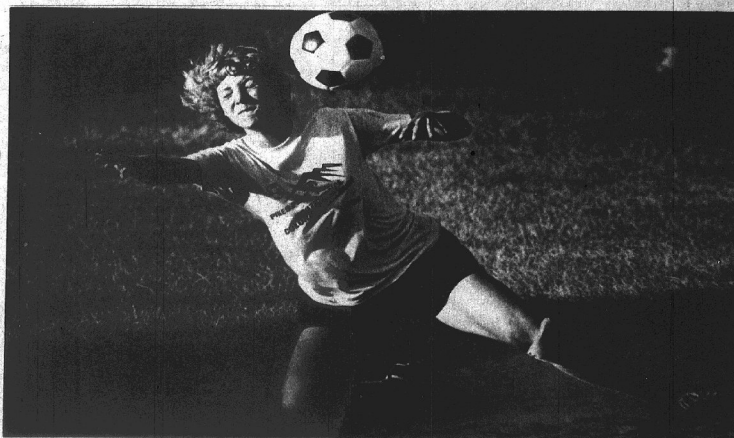

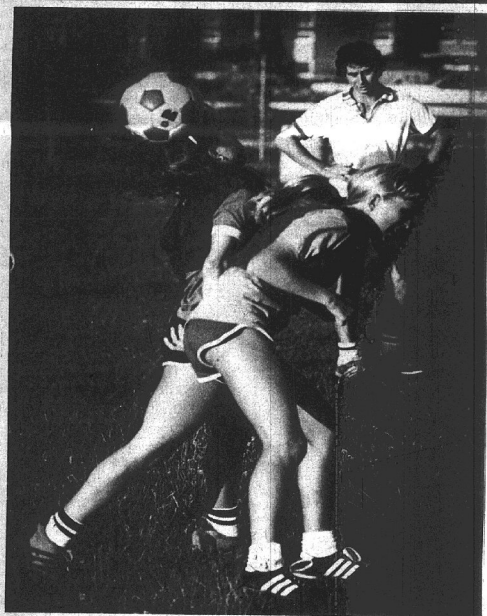

The group of girls from Granite City who'll be going to Cincy are members of the Granite Sheet Metal team. They, under the guidance of their coach, Bob Kurilla, have been practicing hard for their trip which will take place July 25. The tournament is sanctioned by the United States Soccer Federation and is being sponsored by it and the Coca-Cola Company.

Granite Sheet Metal earned the right to advance to the Cincinnati tournament when it won its division at the State Tournament in Alton in June.

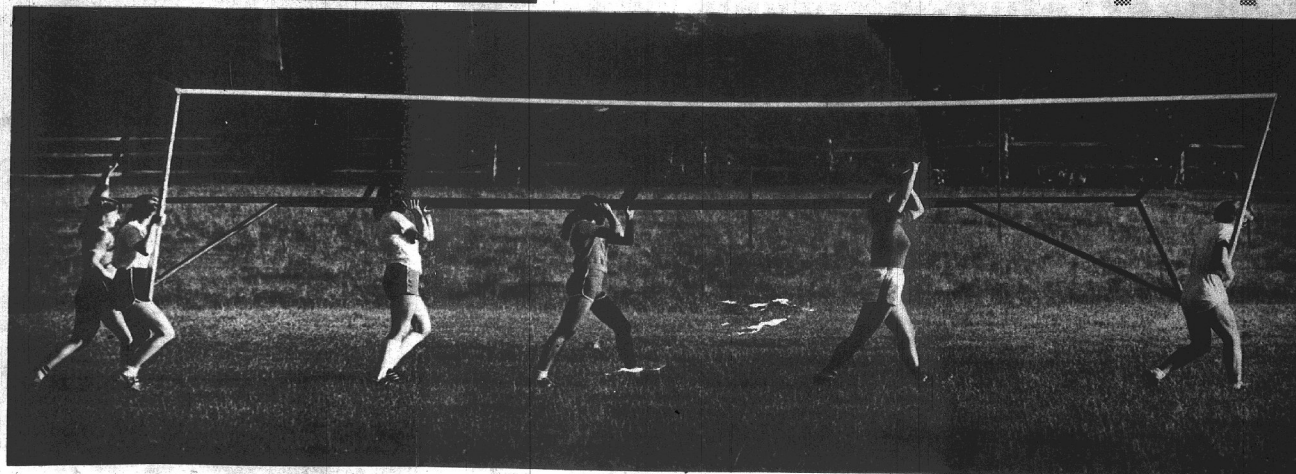

The same group of girls finished third in the Midwest Regional last year, held in Madison, Wis.

The Finley Plating team of Under-16 boys will also be going to the Cincinnati meet next weekend.

Cougars season tickets on sale

EDWARDSVILLE — Season tickets for the upcoming soccer season at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will go on sale throughout the metropolitan St. Louis area Aug. 1, according to Eldon Bigham, the Cougars' acting athletic director.

Coach Bob Guelker's SIUE kickers will be playing the toughest, and longest, schedule of their 10-year history, a total of 21 games, including two exhibition contests featuring teams from Great Britain.

The Cougars, defending national soccer champions in Division I (large schools) of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), will play eight home games, including four against perennial national powers such as the University of San Francisco, Indiana U., Quincy College and St. Louis University.

Season tickets for adults will be $22. Senior citizens, SIUE students, and persons 18 and under will be able to buy the same tickets for $11. In addition, the Cougars are offering the public an opportunity to buy the always popular "team" tickets: $20 for 15 children (18 and under) and five adults.

Prior to Aug. 1, tickets may be purchased at SIUE's Office of Student Affairs, on the second floor of Rensselaer Building.

After Aug. 1, tickets may be purchased at the following sites:

C.Y.C. Office, 4140 Lindell, St. Louis; Twellman's Just for Kicks, West of I-270 on St. Charles Rd., St. Louis County; Black Sporting Goods, 840 Broadway, Alton; Collinsville Sporting Goods, 210 Vandalla, Collinsville; Curt Smith Sporting Goods, 100 West Main, Belleville; Earl's Discount Store, 19th & Cleveland, Granite City; Mendoza Sporting Goods, 2749 Madison Ave., Granite City; Schwartz Rexall Drugs, 156 W. Main, Edwardsville; SIUE ticket office and athletic office.

Paddlers remain undefeated, destroy Gaslight swimmers

COLLINSVILLE — The Paddlers swimming team of Granite City remained undefeated here Thursday with a 388-237 victory over Gaslight Swim and Tennis Club of Collinsville.

The victory marked the first ever Gaslight at Collinsville for Paddlers in over six years.

pitchers who worked. It was a high school coaches dream-team: Alton's Tom Harwood (from state champ Marquette) in the third; Jeff Gass of Belleville in the fourth; Collinsville's Mark Campbell (Most Valuable Player in the State 2A State Tourney) in the fifth; Martin Martz of Belleville in the sixth; Jeff Michael of Collinsville in the seventh; Martin Gull of East St. Louis in the eighth; and Cahokia's Tim Barrott, East Alton's John Streeter and Bethalto's Randy Cherry in the ninth.

And just about all Missouri could do was say good night. Meanwhile, the Illinois bats got cranking again. In the second inning, the District 22 stars scored twice on two hits. Duncan hit a broken up triple to deep centerfield leading off. After VanderLinden walked, Duncan scored when the Missouri catcher threw wildly trying to catch VanderLinden in a double-steal attempt. The ball going into centerfield. VanderLinden ended up on third on the bad throw. Mesch then hit a sacrifice fly to rightfield, scoring VanderLinden.

Illinois scored two more runs in the third inning. With two out and nobody on base, Hawkins singled. He scored when Duncan continued his hot hitting and smashed a double to rightfield. Duncan scored when VanderLinden doubled.

Tri-City's Batey and Mike DeGonia saw considerable action in the game. Batey played shortstop in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, while DeGonia was the centerfielder in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings. While DeGonia struck out, Batey walked in his two times at bat.

again after Bob Batey walked, then came around to third on Rich Cope's double. Cope was thrown out at third trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Unfortunately, Tri-City's hitting surge came a little late. Edwardsville had a score on top in the fourth and fifth with four runs. Allaria singled in the fourth and went to third on a perfectly executed hit-and-run play with McManus. The pair then produced a run on a double steal. McManus came home on Joe Yarnik's home run.

"We hit the ball better than they did, but they executed better than us," Warfield said. "That was the difference."

The loss against Edwardsville means Tri-City will meet Alton in the next round of the playoffs, while Edwardsville will play Collinsville.

Heat can wilt, scorch gardens

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Adviser

Heat can be as rough on plants as on people. Plants have optimum growing temperatures and also minimums and maximums. At this time of the year, we are concerned about temperatures of 95 degrees or higher.

As a general rule, the fruit and vegetable plants native to this area can live through high temperatures if ample soil moisture is available. Water is essential to plant growth. Without it, plants cannot absorb nutrients or conduct photosynthesis and transpiration.

Photosynthesis is the growth activity, and transpiration involves water loss and evaporative cooling. Wilting occurs when insufficient water is available to the plant.

Permanent wilting may occur when soil moisture is unavailable and water is withdrawn from leaves and other tissue. Watering or irrigation will enable plants to recover from wilting if applied before permanent wilting occurs.

Transpiration and water loss are closely related to temperatures and relative humidity. The higher the temperature and the lower the relative humidity, the greater the water loss from plants. This effect can be reduced by shading of low growing plants.

High temperatures upset the physiology of some plants, too. For instance, pepper flowers fail to set at nighttime temperatures above 70 to 75, and tomato flowers fail to set at temperatures above 95.

Sweet corn may not pollinate at temperatures above 100 if humidity is low. Onion bulbings is inhibited at high temperatures, and bolting of lettuce, cauliflower and spinach is quite common.

Many plants make little growth during the heat as their photosynthetic efficiency decreases.

Leaf scorch and sunburn occurs when leaf temperatures get too high. This usually occurs during periods of high light intensity and low wind movement, coupled with low water availability. This type of injury is not as damaging as wilting.

Without irrigation, mulching and shading offer the best hope for gardens. The fruit and vegetable grower who can keep the plants watered should grow adequate crops. There may be some reduction in fruit size and total plant growth, but plants will survive until cooler temperatures arrive.

Small cars are cutting fuel use and air pollution

(Illinois Lung Association)

Last year the average driver used seven percent less gasoline compared to the year before. And collectively saved the equivalent of all the gasoline used in an entire year by Alaska, Arizona, Hawaii, Nevada and Oregon.

That kind of energy conservation also cuts air pollution, since cars are one of the chief causes of pollution.

Small autos that get more miles per gallon are the shape of the future. While full-size cars took 40 percent of the market in 1972, last year they dropped to four percent.

General Motors has announced plans to slim down its average-sized car another 700 pounds by 1987 and alter its average fuel consumption goals from a current 19 miles per gallon to 27.5 miles.

The gas-guzzler is becoming an endangered species.

Consumers still spend some six percent of their after-tax incomes on cars, only slightly less than in 1950, a boom year for the U.S. auto makers.

But—incredibly—for the last four years, people have spent more for gas and motor oil than for new autos.

Keeping older cars properly maintained is important. We recommend having engines and car exhaust checked at least once a year to save gas, money and health.

More fuel-efficient cars, shorter trips, car pools, increased use of public transportation, walking and biking can help cut other fuel consumption and air pollution.

Some futurists feel tomorrow's world may involve even less car travel because telecommunications will help families and co-workers talk to one another on video screens, rather than meeting in person or going to a central place to work.

Solicitation of boys is alleged

Paul Starzak, 61, Florissant, Mo., was arrested at Holt's Bar & Lounge, 249 N. Eldredgela Ave., at 5:25 p.m. Wednesday on warrants alleging two counts of indecent solicitation of a child. It is alleged he offered two Lincoln Place boys, ages 7 and 10, money to perform an obscene act in the 1700 block of Olive St., May 24. The mother signed complaints against Starzak, who was lodged in the Granite City Jail.

STEAL 4 BICYCLES

Four bicycles with a total value of $540 were stolen from a garage at the home of Terry Davis, 1728 Venice Ave., he reported last week. The machines included a Schwinn girl's bicycle with a rear baby seat, a Sear's 10-speed boy's blue model, a Cycle Pro red and white with black wheels and a Huffy Pro yellow bicycle.

Lease old county jail for $1 per year

By JUDY TAPLIN
Preservationists won an apparent victory last week when the Madison County board, by a narrow 12-10 vote, agreed to lease a section of the old county jail and adjoining sheriff's quarters to the Goshen Preservation Alliance for a three-year period, for $1 per year.

But county board member Jack Frandsen, Alhambra, who wasn't at the board meeting, says he considers the vote illegal, because two county committees had decided last week to hold the matter until the August board meeting.

Frandsen said it is possible that the buildings committee, one of those two county committees, will protest the fact that the vote was taken a month early.

He said he was not aware that the old jail was to be discussed Wednesday. Had he known, he would have left work to attend, he said.

Three other members of the buildings committee also were absent because of vacation trips. Frandsen says at least two of them would have voted with him against the resolution. This would have changed the vote to a defeat for the preservationists.

The buildings committee and the Central Services Committee had voted in a joint meeting Friday to delay the vote until August.

Frandsen says the vote Wednesday was "entirely out of order" and "a slap in the face to the taxpayers of Madison County."

Only one board member, Homer Henke of Moro, asked why the resolution to lease the old jail to the preservationists was being brought up a month early. He received no explanation.

The lone member of the buildings committee present, Tony Bosch, of Wood River, introduced the resolution. He was for the preservation efforts. The resolution says Goshen will pay $1 a year rent and will do the restoration at its own expense. At the end of the three years it will return the renovated property to the county.

Those opposing the lease argued that after the three years the taxpayers of Madison County would be stuck with paying for maintenance and insurance for a building few persons outside Edwardsville care anything about.

They also questioned whether Goshen could do the preservation for the $120,000 the project is estimated to cost.

But William Haine, Alton, supporting the preservation, said the county "should be glad that for $3 the group wants to renovate the oldest county building, older than the courthouse."

It would be a place to bring the grandchildren 50 years from now, he said.

Harold (Cotton) Roberts, Alton, said the county should give the old jail to Goshen as a gift. It would be a monetary burden for the county, if returned, he said.

A renewable three-year lease was suggested by Dan Partney, of Granite City, but Assistant State's Attorney Don Smith said the county would have no way to make the preservation group sign for an additional three years.

Louis Whitsett, of Nameoki Township, suggested using the building to house the county museum, since the county currently doesn't own the building the museum occupies.

Frank Vivod, Collinsville, said he was "strictly against" the resolution. "To lease the building, then turn around and buy parking lots doesn't make sense," he said.

Fred Dalton, Collinsville, said he objected strongly to use of county tax dollars to maintain the old jail after the three-year period. Once it is renovated, he said, the county will never tear it down.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer also opposed the lease. He said if grant money is used and the project fails, the county will be responsible.

It took $18,000 to remodel a restroom in the courthouse, he said, and he is sure it will take more than $120,000 to renovate the old jail and sheriff's quarters.

He hoped there would be better things for the grandchildren to see in Madison County in 50 years than the jail, he added, referring to Haine's statement earlier.

O. A. Weindel, Highland, told a reporter the preservation was "another little can of worms." Mike Semansin, Maryville, moved to table the issue for 30 days, but his motion was defeated by one vote.

Homer Boothman, State Park Place, then left the meeting, leaving 22 board members to vote on the resolution. Smith said the actual terms of the contract, yet to be drawn up, could make sure that the county had no liability if the project failed.

At the end of the three years, the county will again have the choice of selling the old jail, using it for county offices or demolishing it. When the controversy over the old jail's fate began several months ago, the county had had these same choices.

The board had voted not to preserve it, fearing that the taxpayers would be burdened with its upkeep. Preservationists launched a concerted drive and managed to have the old jail named to the National Register of Historic Places and to obtain the promise of a grant for the renovation.

The county several months ago delayed a call for bids on sale, demolition, or preservation—bids it wanted for purposes of comparison. The bids were later sought and were opened last week.

Draft

form, and postal clerk will validate the form with the post office's cancellation stamp.

No draft cards will be issued; 90 days after the registration, each man who registered will be mailed both an acknowledgment letter and a form to report any change of address.

It is the responsibility of each person to register and to keep Selective Service notified of any change of address, officials explain.

The only persons not required to register are nonimmigrant aliens (for example, members of diplomatic or trade missions and those on student or visitor's visas), members of the active armed forces, and cadets or midshipmen at the service academies. All others are required to register.

Provision for conscientious objectors is a permanent part of the draft laws of the United States. A person does not register as a conscientious objector; the determination of his status is made later as a part of the classification process.

Thus, all men born in 1960 and 1961 must register this month.

In order to qualify for classification as conscientious objector, a person must be conscientiously opposed to participation in any war. The principle of selective objection to a particular war was refuted by the Supreme Court in 1971.

Beliefs must be religious, moral or ethical in nature, as opposed to those based solely on politics, expediency or self-interest.

A person's objection to war may be based on strictly religious beliefs, or on personal beliefs that are purely ethical or moral in source or content and occupy in the person's life a place parallel to that filled by belief in a Supreme Being for those holding more traditionally religious views.

A person is not required to be a member of a church or any organization which opposes war. Regardless of the basis of a person's beliefs, the fundamental issue is the sincerity with which they are held, the depth of his convictions, and the fact that his conscience would give him no rest or peace should he participate in war.

There are two types of conscientious objectors. The person who is opposed to any form of military service (Class 1-A) performs a period of civilian service in the national interest.

A person whose beliefs will allow him to serve in the armed forces in a non-combatant capacity (Class 1-A-0) becomes a member of the armed forces but does not receive any training in the use of weapons. Many of these people serve in the medical corps.

The determination of a registrant's classification is made by the members of a local board. Because the local boards are not in an active status at this time, no action can be taken now on claims for conscientious objector status.

If classification actions are resumed at some time in the future, a person who is among the group subject to processing will be given an opportunity at that time to make his claim for classification as a conscientious objector.

The penalty for failure to register with Selective Service is a fine of up to $10,000, imprisonment for up to five years, or both.

"These penalties, which are contained in the Military Selective Service Act, indicate how seriously Congress regarded the offense when it passed the Military Selective Service Act," a spokesman said.

"We do not anticipate that non-compliance with registration will be a significant problem. Even during the height of the Vietnam protests and demonstrations, young men continued to register as required by law."

Based on Census Bureau estimates of the number of young men attaining registration age, it appears that between 96 and 99 percent of those required to register did so in the past. We are confident that the great majority of young people will recognize their responsibility under the law and register as required.

The penalties contained in the law, however, are not an idle threat. We have a legal responsibility to enforce the law, and will do so.

"It is important to note that the penalty for those who knowingly counsel, aid, or abet another to refuse or evade registration is the same as for those who refuse to register—$10,000 fine and/or five years in prison. Whether or not a given action constitutes one of these (counsel, aids, or abets) is a matter for judicial decision."

Air dust

Statewide, levels of ozone and carbon monoxide were lower during the year. But levels of sulfur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide and particulates were higher.

The IEPA's Division of Air Pollution Control, Ambient Air Monitoring Section, said the data was compiled from a monitoring network of 316 samplers located throughout the state.

Trend reversals were noted in four categories. Ozone and carbon monoxide, which had been increasing, decreased. But particulates and sulfur dioxide, which had been getting better, worsened.

Illinois ozone levels were much lower in 1979 than in the previous three years.

For the first time since that monitoring began in 1974, none of the 43 stations in the ozone network registered levels above 20 parts per million.

The highest hourly average was at Waukegan, and Edwardsville had the greatest number of hours exceeding the state standard of .08 ppm, with 176 hours.

Edwardsville also led the state with 37 days under ozone advisory conditions.

Carbon monoxide problems were worst in Chicago, Calumet City and Moline.

The longest continuous sulfur dioxide excursion ever recorded in Illinois occurred in Wood River and covered an 80-hour period, with the highest 24-hour average of .248 ppm. Two other sites recorded violations of the 24-hour primary standard of .14—Springfield and East St. Louis.

Nitrogen dioxide average levels were highest in Glenview and lowest in Edwardsville.

Worst non-methane hydrocarbon readings were at Northwestern University, Evanston.

Arrow registration due by Wednesday

The summer convective of the Cahokia Lodge Order of the Arrow will be held at Camp Sannen, near Potosi, Mo., Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 25, 26 and 27.

Registration for the convective is due at the Boy Scout Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave., by 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Order of the Arrow is a national brotherhood of Scout honor campers.

The program will include the induction of new members into the Order and the elevation of Order members to Brotherhood membership.

The Arrow members also will close the camp, cleaning and storing the equipment until the next summer season.

The Cahokia Lodge has about 250 adult and youth members.

Keith Johnson is chairman of the event.

Awaits sentencing

Jerry Lee McCabe, 26, of the 3900 block of Central Lane, is awaiting sentencing in Tusculum, Fla., after pleading not guilty (no contest) to one felony count of third-degree grand theft.

McCabe was charged with breaking into the room of a 22-year-old woman in Palm Bay, Fla., and assaulting her before stealing a radio from her room. Charges of sexual battery, kidnapping, burglary and robbery have been dismissed.

A previous report that McCabe had pleaded guilty to the theft charge was in error.

consideration the past events and the duration of the strike, feels it is of the utmost importance that we make another attempt to settle our contract dispute.

We will therefore, on the weekend of July 18 meet with the International Representative to discuss all proposals and further make a trip to Milwaukee in an effort to meet with Mr. Baumann and other company officials and union representatives. Your president and bargaining committee has known and worked with Mr.

Baumann in the past and considering our past good relations, have high hopes that his appointment to our negotiations will result in movement on both sides toward settlement of our current dispute, so that we may all get back to the business of making frames and securing new orders to stay in business.

Your union representatives met with members of the electricians and machinist unions on July 16, and they agree with our trip and share in it.

Heat

No major corn crop damage has resulted from the heat so far, but livestock is requiring close observation and strict managing procedure, according to Agricultural Director John Block. He said crop and livestock production this fall will be down from earlier expectations, but he does not know how much. Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal said he knows of no government programs to help pay for utility costs for needy persons. He said his office has received dozens of phone calls from persons who said they have quit paying utility bills because they believed there were such programs.

She told the officer that $20 in cash had been taken from her purse by her attackers. She was released from St. Mary's Hospital after evidence was gathered and she was brought to the Granite City Police Department later Thursday where she related the story.

Granite City and East St. Louis police are cooperating in the investigation, a spokesman said.

Illinois-American Water Company announced that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission for a rate increase affecting the area served by the company, including the Quad-Cities.

R. W. Greaves, vice president and manager of the company said the increase generated by the filed rates is required because of higher operating costs as well as the added investment in water facilities in the service area. The filed rates would raise the average quarterly residential water bill in the High Service Area from $27.60 to $31.67 (or an increase of $1.36 per month) and would raise the water bill for the minimum usage customer being served by a 5-8-inch meter from $16.56 to $19.02 per quarter (or an increase of 82 cents per month).

In the Low Service Area, the average residential bill would increase from $25.80 to $29.61 (or an increase of $1.27 per month). The minimum usage customer being served by a 5-8-inch meter would increase from $15.48 to $17.79 per quarter (or an increase of 77 cents per month). No increase is being requested for public fire protection.

The Low Service Area includes East St. Louis, the Quad-Cities, Canteen and Centerville townships and other locations below the bluffs.

The High Service Area includes Belleville, Swansea and surrounding locations. Due to steadily rising costs and the additional investment in the system, the company said it cannot maintain earnings allowed by the Illinois Commerce Commission in prior orders. The company's request for increased rates is based on a test year ending June 30, 1980.

"Sizeable increases in operating expenses and a reduction in water sales have depleted the company's earnings," Greaves said. "The company, like all other businesses, has suffered as a result of inflation, which has caused significant increases in the cost of labor, rents, materials supplies and services." Since Dec. 31, 1978, the company has received nearly $2 million in major capital improvements and is committed to spend nearly $2 million for new non-revenue producing facilities in 1980 and the first six months of 1981.

SUMMER BRIDE. Mrs. Mark Gerard Eichenseer the former Jayne Ellen Harding who was married at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harding, 4004 Wabash Ave.

Jayne Harding weds Mark G. Eichenseer

Miss Jayne Ellen Harding, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harding, 4004 Wabash Ave., and Mark Gerard Eichenseer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Eichenseer, 7 Lisa Lane, Belleville, were united in marriage in a morning ceremony on June 7 at St. Margaret Mary Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Donald Eichenseer, an uncle of the groom, performed the double ring service at 11 o'clock.

Wedding selections, "Forever Yours," "Morning Has Broken," "Longer," "Wedding Song," "Today" and "The Lord's Prayer" were provided by Vickie Simpson and Larry Snialle.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Harding wore a white sateen gown complemented with a picture hat enhanced with a veil of imported bridal illusion.

Her Empire designed dress featured a high neckline traced with Venice lace which was repeated on the sheer yoke. The long tulle sleeves were fashioned with a deep applied lace motif at the lower part, creating an unique cuff effect.

A narrow row of lace marked the crescent waistline and three rows of lace on the A-line skirt were enhanced with floral clusters of lace on either side.

The decorative trim edged the hemline of the skirt and encircled the chapel train.

She carried a leopard bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath.

The bride's hair was styled in a soft, romantic updo.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a black bow tie.

The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Donald Eichenseer.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Gardennaires tour gardens

The July meeting of the Gardennaires Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Eads. Members enjoyed viewing the Eads gardens prior to the meeting.

The days program consisted of discussing the individual rose specimens members had prepared for exhibit. Mr. Eads, who is an accredited judge in the American Rose Society, had charge of this portion of the program. At the conclusion of the program a plant sale was held, under the direction of ways and means chairman, Mrs. R. Hintz, and Mrs. Eads.

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Richard Karch, vice president. Members answering roll call by naming a botanical garden they found interesting.

Mrs. Wm. Long reported this month's exhibit at the mini-garden center featured roses, especially the miniature varieties.

Conservation chairman, Mrs. Alex Taroff, read in communication from District V alerting members to the serious rabies problem in the area.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Hintz, who is the club's immediate past president, presented Mrs. Eads and Mrs. Charles Kohl, certificates of commendation given by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, in recognition for the long time service to the local club, as well as to the state federation.

In addition to those named, the following also attended: Mrs. Mary Kristian, Mrs. Roy Hornmann, Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. Jerry Arbeiter, and a guest Mrs. Valeria Dykes.

Tax cuts promised nationally and sought in county, but each targeted program ought to be evaluated first

Tax reduction talk is a popular topic these days and, generally speaking, is welcomed by recession-oppressed taxpayers. But not all tax cuts would be good news; it depends on the specifics.

Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan in his acceptance address Thursday night reiterated his plan for a phased federal income tax cut of 10 percent in 1981, an additional 10 percent in 1982 and a third 10 percent decrease in 1983.

Voters will choose Nov. 4 between Reagan, independent John Anderson, and Democratic President Jimmy Carter, who says he would consider recommending a tax cut in 1981 if re-elected.

The Reagan belief is that freeing families and firms from part of their present tax burden would stimulate buying by consumers and encourage investments by businesses in job-producing buildings and equipment.

According to this script, a bigger and healthier level of economic activity would result, producing more taxes than before even though the rate had been lowered.

Certainly, the opposite is true: when unemployment has reduced consumers' purchasing power, and manufacturers' order books, the government's coffers as well as individuals and businesses suffer economically.

Along with stimulating the economy and hoping for a related expansion of tax revenue, Candidate Reagan made it clear on the Republican convention's final night that he favors less government, with fewer federal employees retained and numerous agencies having to justify their continued existence.

His opponents in the general election are less willing to gamble on a tax cut of that size, and warn that tying the pursestrings too tightly could cause hardship. Reagan, meanwhile, took pains to stress his concern for ailing, aged and deprived persons, while Democrats prepared to attack him as being mainly interested in fat cats.

Tax cuts do benefit big companies and wealthy individuals as well the poor, it was emphasized Wednesday night in Alton at a "tax cutting" public meeting arranged by Dr. Henry Elstach of Alton and conducted by Chicagoans James Tobin and Richard Suter.

Many Madison County officials were present but were prevented from "getting a word in edgewise" by Tobin, president of the National Taxpayers' Union of Illinois, and Suter, NTU legislative consultant.

The basic proposal being advanced by the visitors is a 25 percent reduction in real estate tax rates for five county governmental funds.

Maximum rates for each $100 assessed valuation would drop from 12 to 9 cents for the general fund, 10 to 7 1/2 cents for highways, 5 to 3 1/2 cents for highway bridges, and 2 cents to 1 1/2 cents each for assessments and the juvenile court fund, home, a total rate reduction of 7 3/4 cents, from 31 to 23 1/4.

The Chicagoans are circulating petitions also soliciting donations to support their organization.

While their proposed ballot questions are clear enough, they take an oversimplistic approach toward government and an unjustifiably negative attitude toward those who serve in public offices, thus making the petition drive a waste of what they advocate.

Tobin, who is affiliated with the Libertarian party, went out of his way to describe members of Congress as "congress vermin," Illinois legislators as "robber barons," school officials as "the worst tax masters of all" and local-level governments as "tax thieves." Among those reacting angrily to such terms was retired Appellate Judge George Moran Sr. of Granite City.

Even if such tactics could be ignored, it is impossible to accept as accurate the NTU contention that Madison County has a $10 million financial surplus.

County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields says balances at the close of the last fiscal year, Nov. 30, 1979, were divided among 17 different types of new property taxes.

Actually, this year's collections may not arrive until September, the tenth month, he adds. And even without a tax rate increase, the county would be in the red.

For example, has a $45,000 deficit due to a variety of reasons.

Fields' initial projections are that the proposed tax cuts would total only about $10 a year for the owner of a $45,000 home assessed at $15,000, and would save $83,000 in taxes for Shell Oil Co. and $22,000 for Amoco.

Suter at one point sought to convince the gathering that "what we have here is bureaucracy gone wild" but later conceded that when "people want tax cuts, it makes no difference whether there is a $1 surplus or a $150 million surplus."

Among those who sought unsuccessfully to voice their views at the taxpayer meeting was County Highway Superintendent William H. Haine, who was critical of what they saw as a transparent effort to aid big taxpayers at the expense of needed governmental services.

Haine out-shouted the moderators to ask, "Why don't you tell the people what services were funded by all these nasty taxes?" Why don't you tell them about the nursing home where we're trying to take care of senior citizens, and the deputies out on the rural roads?

"What about the elderly in the nursing home—are you going to throw them out in 106-degree heat? Are you going to let the rural people be murdered in their beds?" I'm not going to tell them about two-bit demagogues do this.

It is going to be a "long, hot summer," he said. "What about the survival itself as a goal of many. And some taxpayers intend to make it hot for government while trying to defend their own selfish interests."

In a time of simultaneous recession, rising unemployment and excessive inflation, tax cuts seem inevitable at the local and county levels, (Granite City schools already have sharply reduced their overall tax rate, and the retirement of all construction paid debt.)

But it still is important that cool heads prevail and evaluate precisely what is at stake in the proposed cuts, and be considered for reduction or elimination. Some taxes can and should be altered, while others should not.

The petition also alleged that the denial of Mrs. Farmer's petition to intervene in the case "did not allow the public, through her, to adequately express their beliefs concerning the white ash fallout...nor did it allow the citizens to prove that the stipulation will not abate the pollution problem."

The stipulation referred to amended the original stipulation to provide that Granite City Steel should pay the $10,000 assessment to the EPA rather than use the fund to directly pay damages to claimants who filed claims based on damages allegedly caused by the fallout.

The original agreement approved in June 1979 following a public hearing in the city hall, authorized the payments for damages by the steel firm.

Wolff, Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagmann, said the stipulation was approved by the state control board, there were 54 claims for damages that had been filed by Granite City residents.

Charles "Burr" Taylor, attorney representing Mrs. Taylor, said that his client believes that the Environmental Protection Agency, the attorney general and the Illinois Pollution Control Board entered into a stipulation that approved the agreement "in violation of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act," the rules and regulations of the Illinois Pollution Control Board and the Illinois constitutional mandate that the General Assembly "provide and maintain a healthful environment for the benefit of this and future generations."

Public hearing tomorrow on GC budgets totaling $14.3 million

A public hearing on tentative budgets for Granite City for the 1980-81 fiscal year is to be held in the council chambers at city hall at 7 p.m. Tuesday, prior to the regular meeting of the council. The budgets total $14,359,216.

The tentative budgets for the general fund and federal revenue sharing fund were posted following a budget session the city council Friday evening.

Mayor Paul Schuler presented the tentative budgets to the council, saying he feels it is a good budget package which will enable the city to continue its operations without dismantling any city program or laying off any workers.

He predicted sufficient revenue will be generated by the city during the year to support the budgets without a tax increase or borrowing.

This is a good budget, Schuler summarized. Under state law, the city must approve current employees by Thursday, July 31.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the council finance committee, had warned the council that declining population and high unemployment were combining to reduce the city's revenues, while city spending was rising.

He predicted a large deficit at the end of the fiscal year, unless taxes are increased or some jobs are eliminated. He suggested creating the city's air pollution control department and reducing staffs in most city departments, except the police, fire and street departments.

Schuler said he did not feel such drastic cuts were necessary and he and his administrative assistant, David Nolan, went to work on tentative budgets which would enable the city to maintain all current employees.

Draft copies of those budgets were presented to the aldermen for study during a caucus July 9 and the tentative budgets were posted after the aldermen studied them at Friday night's session.

Budgets posted, and the total for each are: general operating fund, $7,252,086; revenue sharing, $7,677,438 (including about $400,000 for salaries); community development, $1,431,497; motor fuel tax fund, $673,324; and overpass construction, $2,500,000.

Partially due to the 19th Street overpass construction, which is supported by bonds not requiring a tax levy, the new budget is $4,155,021 higher than the budgets for the last fiscal year, which totaled $10,204,195.

In addition to $2.5 million as the city's share for the overpass, the tentative budget is swelled by carry-over funds from revenue sharing and community development, neither of which is supported by local property taxes, Nolan explained.

The 1979-80 fiscal year budget, appropriated $6,833,319 for the general operating fund, $958,807 for community development, $1,421,473 for the sewerage treatment plant, $194,357 in the motor fuel tax fund and $993,287 in the federal revenue sharing fund.

A review of the heat wave's effect on Illinois farms indicates no major damage to the corn crop. But stress on livestock will be requiring close observation, State Agriculture Director John Block said, adding that production of crops and livestock will be reduced from earlier expectations.

Cooler weather is expected today and tomorrow after a hot weekend of 105 degrees Saturday and 102 Sunday.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has endorsed a community development block grant proposal intended to help Madison County acquire property, construct senior citizen centers, obtain clearance for street improvements, remove architectural barriers, modernize public housing, rehabilitate homes, and improve and construct facilities for recreation, water, sewer and fire protection.

Dr. Felicia Koch, a Granite City physician who is the Republican candidate for corner of Madison County, will be the guest speaker at Thursday's noontime Optimist meeting.

The John B. Anderson Independent presidential campaign committee completed its Illinois petition drive Sunday and expects to place his name on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Gov. James R. Thompson voted Friday a bill to allow renters to deduct some of their rent expenses from state income tax returns. Meanwhile, taxpayers are urging him to sign legislation to reduce the state sales tax on food and drugs.

Some Mississippi River dredging is being done due to the currently low water level.

Gov. Thompson on Thursday signed a bill providing $22,880 to phase out the old Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority during the next three months.

Man grabs woman jogger

Granite City police are attempting to identify a young man who grabbed a 20-year-old woman jogger in Wilson Park about 5:30 a.m. today, but released her when she screamed, pulled free and ripped the man's tee shirt.

State Dept. of Granite City said she was jogging near 28th and State streets when a man, about 20 to 25 years old, stepped out from behind a tree and grabbed her arm. She pulled free, but the man wrapped his other arm around her chest and held her, she said.

When she screamed, pulled free and tore his shirt, he ran through the park to 28th Street and got in a gray sedan, she said. She ran through the park to 28th Street and got in a gray sedan, she said.

Alice Cooper and Beach Boys at MRF

Two concerts have been added to the schedule of the Mississippi River Festival presented by the MRF.

On Sunday, Aug. 3, Alice Cooper will appear with special guest Billy Squire beginning at 8:30 p.m. Also added to the schedule is a return performance by the Beach Boys on Tuesday, Aug. 5, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the outdoor facility on the campus of the Illinois State University at Edwardsville.

A rundown of previously announced upcoming concerts includes: Todd Rundgren's Utopia with Todd Rundgren, Roger Powell, Kasim Sulton and The Tubes. They will perform on Sunday, July 27 at 8:30 p.m. The special guests will be Ambrosia.

Also to appear at the MRF is the Rossington Collins Band with special guests Point Blank. The Rossington Collins Band is comprised of members of the former Lynyrd Skynyrd Band. They will appear on Wednesday, Aug. 6 at 8:30 p.m.

On Sunday, Aug. 17, Waylon Jennings with the Waylon & Dolly Band will appear beginning at 8:30 p.m. Jennings was originally scheduled to appear at the MRF on Sunday, June 29, but the performance was postponed due to illness. Tickets for the June date will be honored at the Aug. 17 appearance.

Tickets for all performing acts are $5 for lawn seating. For the concert, goers protection, no bottles, no alcohol or alcoholic beverages are allowed on the festival site. Also, no cameras or recording devices are permitted. Parking is free.

For more information concerning announced concerts Quad-Cityans may call 1-892-0100.

United executive leaving local post

A. F. King, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area Development Council since 1978, will be departing in early August to return to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., due to changing personal and career objectives, it was announced today.

He came here from a similar post in Tennessee, and previously held UW positions in Florida.

United by President A. H. Froelich, following regret at King's decision and cited progress in implementing a long-range plan to create a new regional social service centers; five are in operation.

Special committees of six UW board members have been selected to "review future directions and prospective candidates for executive director, and advise the board on the various options available to build further on what has been accomplished.

The council consists of William Donovan, American Steel Foundries; Henry Clipperton, Ford Life Insurance; Melvin Wilmsmeyer, First Granite City National Bank; James Eisenbeis and Paul Costello, both of Granite City Steel; and Froelich, Eisenbeis is general campaign chairman of the Tri-Cities Area Development Council.

King praised the board for "your absolute commitment to place and to create a place where people have all other considerations. I encourage you to continue meaningful coordination of services and positive relationships with neighboring communities."

He quoted social service center participants as endorsing "community and client needs rather than agency or staff needs."

He also stated he was endorsing "community and client needs rather than agency or staff needs."

EPA-Steel firm pact appealed

A year-old agreement between Granite City Steel and the Illinois Pollution Control Board in which the steel company agreed to pay a $10,000 settlement of damages resulting from a "white ash" fallout in 1977 has been appealed to the Fifth District Appellate Court.

The appeal was filed by Mrs. Florence Farmer of Granite City whose petition to intervene in the EPA case was denied by the Illinois control board earlier this year.

In entering the agreement in June 1979, the steel company did not admit that it was responsible for the white ash fallout which damaged a number of homes and cars. It indicated it was making the settlement to resolve allegations that the ash came from the company's sinter plant. At the time of the settlement, which was approved by the state control board, there were 54 claims for damages that had been filed by Granite City residents.

Charles "Burr" Taylor, attorney representing Mrs. Taylor, said that his client believes that the Environmental Protection Agency, the attorney general and the Illinois Pollution Control Board entered into a stipulation that approved the agreement "in violation of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act," the rules and regulations of the Illinois Pollution Control Board and the Illinois constitutional mandate that the General Assembly "provide and maintain a healthful environment for the benefit of this and future generations."

Wolff, Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagmann, said the stipulation was approved by the state control board, there were 54 claims for damages that had been filed by Granite City residents.

Bethel plans guest night

Kathy Bronsman, queen of Bethel 43, Order of Job's Daughters, conducted the initial meeting this month of the organization at the Masonic Temple, and announced plans for guest night scheduled for Tuesday, July 22.

Suzie Sandall presented the American Flag in the East and Sheri Ashall displayed the Job's Daughters Flag. Melissa Travis gave the librarian's report entitled "Fourth of July," and Sheri Ashall and Susan Beasley entertained the group with a special musical duet.

Pro-tems for the evening were Sheri Hancock, junior custodian; Beth Knight, recorder and Sandy Sternberg, outer guard.

Those introduced and given special recognition from Bethel 43, were: Lee Ann Baker, junior past queen; Mrs. Joy Caschetta, past queen; Teri Roberson, Grand Bethel fifth messenger to the State of Illinois and senior princess of Bethel 43, Mrs. Rebecca Slate, Bethel guardian and Ralph Baker, associate Bethel guardian. "Uncle" Ralph also was saluted on his birthday.

Granite City's "official visit" beginning with brunch on Sunday, July 6, was discussed. "Aunt" Becky Slate, "Uncle" Ralph, Mrs. Martha Pragacz, Mrs. Sandy Simpson and Mrs. Fran Holt complimented the girls on the manner in which the "official visit" was conducted. Mrs. Pragacz thanked all the parents and girls who assisted at the brunch and reception for the official event.

Mrs. June Smock, Illinois Gran Guardian, Ron Erickson, Illinois Associate Grand Guardian and their "official family" were accorded special honors during the affair.

Sandy Sternberg and Teri Roberson reported on the official visit they attended at Collinsville on July 7. Discussion centered around official visits to other Bethels including Edwardsville, Belleville, O'Fallon, Fairview Heights and Highland scheduled for the coming week.

Mrs. Fran Holt brought the members up to date on the Job's Daughters Musicale to be held at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 14, at Namoki United Methodist Church. She also stressed the importance of everyone attending their practice at her home each Monday evening from 6 to 7.

Plans also were made to attend Job-A-Rama in Bloomington, Ill. July 17-20 and the DeMolay Conclave on Aug. 9. The queen asked the girls to bring cakes for the July 22 meeting cake walk.

Following the meeting, refreshments including a special cake honoring Ralph Baker's birthday and the Fourth of July, were served to those mentioned above and Shellie Knight, Chris Hackey, Patti Cridler, Melissa Dickerson, Lisa Gibbons, Dana Churavich, Sandy Simpson, Shirley Lane, Charlotte Root, Delora Baker, Jane Ashall, Karen Bronsman, Wiletta Beasley, Linda Dickerson, Sharon Sandall, Dick Sandall and Betty Roberson.

Both are employed as instructors at the Harry Lundeburg School of Seamanship, Piney Point, Md.

They will be married on Aug. 31 at Italy Face Church, Great Mills, Md.

American flags and Fourth of July decorations adorned the tables and the room. Any girl ages 11 to 21, having proper Masonic heritage, (father, grandfather, uncles, etc. who are Masons) may make application for membership in Job's Daughters by calling 931-0001, or 931-6353, the queen added.

"NOW I KNOW IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE! CHECK THE PRESS-RECORD CLASSIFIED ADS FOR A DIAPER SERVICE."

Do the youngsters in your home know these energy savers?

The door saver

When the air conditioner is working, give it a break by keeping outside doors closed. Close the door firmly behind you when you come or go. Be sure your friends do the same.

The light bulb saver

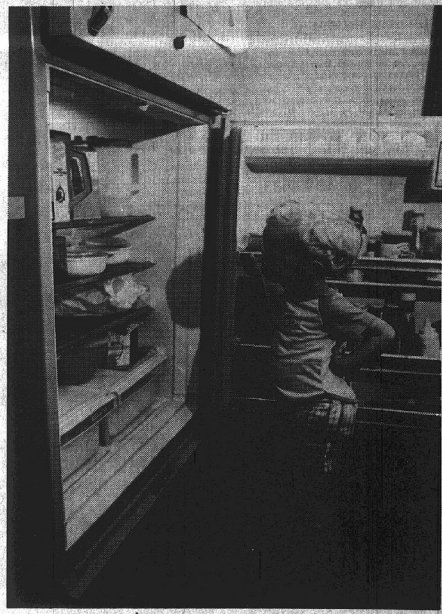

Lights on that aren't needed are expensive. They waste energy. They add to your folks' electric bill. And they add heat to the room. When a lamp or overhead light isn't needed, switch it off.

The TV saver

Television may be cheap entertainment but it isn't free. When you're through watching, turn it off. Same goes for radios and stereos. (You're on your way to becoming a real energy-saver!)

The range saver

Turning on the oven to warm up a hot-dog bun or two is a real energy-waster. So is using a range burner to pop corn. Think first—could you use a small appliance for the same purpose?

The refrigerator saver

Leaving the refrigerator door open is like letting money spill out. Know what you want before you open the fridge, then close the door promptly.

What do you do when the boss says, "The job is yours. Sell your house and be there in a week."

You've worked hard for this promotion. But when it comes, it seems there are a million things to do. . . all at once.

Get expert help fast. Call your local CENTURY 21 office.

Two good things will happen. The agent here will sit down with you and show you ways to make your house more attractive in today's market place, especially in the area of financing. Then your agent will use the CENTURY 21 Referral System to call an agent in your new town to get things going there. You'll talk to the new agent yourself and outline what you have in mind - from the size of house you want to how much you can afford each month. By the time you get there, you'll have a good selection to look at.

At CENTURY 21, we're making things happen.
